

A University Brought to Your Home

Announcement THE UNIVERSITY ALLIANCE HAS THE HONOR TO ANNOUNCE, AFTER YEARS OF PREPARATION AND VAST EXPENDITURE, THE COMPLETION OF AN EPOCH-MAKING, SCHOLARLY WORK, ON ORIGINAL LINES, UNDER THE TITLE OF International University Lectures--Congress of Arts and Science

Edited under the direction of an Executive Board of International Scholars representing the great universities and learned societies throughout the world; and with a congress of the most notable intellectual leaders of all countries as contributing lecturers. The organizing committee of the Congress, with the strongest credentials from the Government, and with introductions to members of the diplomatic service, visited Europe to extend, personally, invitations to noted scientists to co-operate in this great congress. The honorariums and editorial expenses of these lectures were the largest ever paid for any university publication in the history of publishing, aggregating close to a QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS.

It is impossible in this announcement to even outline the scope covered by this voluminous and exhaustive series of lectures, for every important subject in the modern field of human endeavor is fully covered by experts who have spent a lifetime in preparation for just such intense specialization. Edwin Alderman, President of the University of Virginia, said, in his published letter of opinion: "The series in fact, constitutes the last word in the development of modern civilization. Instead of giving to the world a collection of volumes with the names of a few eminent men on the title pages, we have given to it a complete, progressive and comprehensively thorough series, arranged in natural sequence with every article signed by the author, thus giving the individual stamp of authenticity and in each case placing the responsibility squarely on the shoulders of the individual contributor. This is our first contribution--as a Nation--to the world of letters and our national pride in this, as in all other fields of progressive human endeavor, is fully justified by the results. It is now universally admitted that in the university courses knowledge is most im-presively imparted by means of lectures, and it was this general acceptance that led President Roosevelt and the Emperor of Germany to propose an interchange of University professors, which met with instant favor among educators. This agreement was directly reinforced by the organization of a University Alliance, which became firmly and concretely established by a Congress of Arts and Science held at the St. Louis Exposition, which was actively participated in by more than three hundred distinguished professors, representing the greatest universities of the world. THE GENERAL CLASSIFICATION comprises History, Theology, Literature, Astronomy, Art, Architecture, Engineering, Medicine, Law, Physics, Anthropology, Poetry, Music, Drama, Language, Politics, Money and Credit, Public Finance, Diplomacy, etc., and all other subjects that come within the scope of this general survey of Science, Arts and Letters. The men most famous for their learning, discoveries and achievements in the branches of higher culture brought to the Congress the fruits of their knowledge, in the form of lectures so diversified in subject and so explicit in presentation that, combined, they constitute a series of incalculable utility and completeness.

A GRAND WORK IN A GRAND SETTING

This greatest of modern publications, estimated for the substantial, everyday, usable instruction which it imparts, is beautifully embellished with forty exquisite photogravures, hand-painted reproductions of famous paintings, and symbolic frontispieces, and is set in a fine binding illuminated with historical designs.

The following brief extracts are characteristic of the hundreds of congratulations already received

Dr. Gaston Darboux, Perpetual Secretary of the Institute de France: "It is the first time I believe there has been assembled in ONE GRAND INTERNATIONAL REUNION that which our great Minister, Colbert, had in mind, and that which we have realized for the first time in our Institute de France—the union of Letters, Science and Arts." (Dr. Darboux represented the French Academy in the Congress.)
Dr. Wilhelm Waldeyer, of the University of Berlin, in his eloquent tribute, said: "The imposing row of volumes presenting the problems of the sciences and arts as they appear to the world at the dawn of the 20th century, will be a monumental work of lasting value." (Dr. Waldeyer is one of the most noted of German scholars.)

Dr. Theodore Ehscherich, of the University of Vienna: "The Congress of Arts and Science will be an unparalleled encyclopedia of human knowledge."
Count Hozumi, of the Imperial University of Tokio, Japan: "The Hon. James Bryce, the British Ambassador; Signor Attilio Brunialti, Councilor of State of Italy, unite in proclaiming the Congress of the Arts and Science, 'THE GREATEST INTELLECTUAL ENTERPRISE OF THE CENTURY.'"

MAKER OF TREATIES VISITS

Major McLaughlin of Indian Service Here on His Way Westward.

WILL TRADE WITH THE UTES

Government Plans to Add Historic Area to Mesa Verde National Park by Land Deal with the Indians.

MAJOR McLAUGHLIN

Major James McLaughlin, diplomat of the Interior department, who has made more treaties with the Indians than any other man, just rounding out his fortieth year in the service, is at the Rome hotel en route to Durango, Colo., where he will dicker with the Utes concerning the government's proposition to take over a large part of their reservation to be added to Mesa Verde national park.

MAJOR McLAUGHLIN

Major McLaughlin is here from Washington to join F. H. Abbott, assistant Indian commissioner, who is here to award the $1,000,000 of Indian supply contracts, and as soon as he finishes his work both will journey into Colorado. The reservation land they propose to secure embraces a historical relic. They propose to enter into a large amount of territory valuable for its treaty with the Indians exchanging other government land for the reservation tract.

MAJOR McLAUGHLIN

Major McLaughlin is probably the best known man in the service. For forty years he has dealt with the Indians and is known everywhere as the Indian friend. Forty years ago on the 30th of next June he traveled behind a team of oxen into Dakota territory to Devil's lake, where he was agent for twenty-four years. During the last sixteen years he has been stationed in Washington, serving as special agent wherever his services were needed.

RAILROADS IGNORING CITY VIADUCT DEMAND

Burlington and Union Pacific Give No Evidence of Intent to Start Construction.

RAILROADS IGNORING CITY VIADUCT DEMAND

Though an ordinance directing the Union Pacific and Burlington railway companies to build the Eleventh street viaduct was passed by the city council a month ago, neither company has started construction work nor given any evidence of doing so. George Craig, city engineer, stated Thursday morning that construction work was being delayed pending the appraisal of any damages that might arise from the modified plans, which were approved by the council.

RAILROADS IGNORING CITY VIADUCT DEMAND

"However, this viaduct proposition is out of our hands," declared Craig. "We have drawn the plans and they have been approved. The ordinance has been passed by the city council and it is up to the legal department to force the companies to get busy."

RAILROADS IGNORING CITY VIADUCT DEMAND

"We drew plans, which were approved by the council. Later we modified those plans, upon the request of engineers for both railroads, with the understanding that as soon as the ordinance was passed construction work would be started. The modified plans called for the cutting off of a few feet on the south, which resulted in no material change."

RAILROADS IGNORING CITY VIADUCT DEMAND

"Now it is stated that further damages might result and the investigation of such is responsible for the delay."

Farmer Has a Most Miraculous Escape from Sudden Death

Howard Freed, a farmer living north of Florence, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injury Wednesday night when a street car going at full speed struck the horse which he was riding, breaking its back and throwing both horse and rider under the fender. The fact that Freed fell under the horse probably saved his life for the bulk of the horse stopped the car.

UNUSUAL GROUND GIVEN FOR NEW TRIAL OF CASE

The affidavit of William W. Barton, a juror, filed Thursday, to the effect that the other jurors misinformed him when he otherwise would have stood out for a substantial verdict, is the unusual ground upon which Mrs. Maggie Craig is basing her motion for a new trial of her libel suit for $5,000 against Rev. Frank W. Weeks. A jury in Judge Sears court two weeks ago returned a nominal verdict for $1.
